

황룡사지 사적 제6호

황룡사는 신라 진흥왕 14년(553)에 경주 월성의 동쪽에 궁궐을 짓다가 그곳에서 황룡(黃龍)이 나타났다는 말을 듣고 절로 고쳐 짓기 시작하여 17년 만에 완성되었다. 그 후 574년, 인도의 아소카왕이 석가삼존불상을 만들려다 뜻을 이루지 못하고 금과 철, 삼존불상의 모형을 배에 실어 보낸 것이 신라 땅에 닿게 되었다. 이것을 재료로 삼존불상을 만들게 되었고, 이 불상을 모시기 위해 진평왕 6년(584)에 금당을 짓게 되었다. 선덕여왕 12년(643)에는 당나라에서 유학하고 돌아온 자장의 권유로 외적의 침입을 막기 위한 바람의 9층 목탑을 짓게 되는데, 각 층마다 적국을 상징하도록 하였으며, 백제의 장인 아버지에게 의해 645년에 완공되었다. 그러나 황룡사는 고려 고종 25년(1238)에 몽고의 침입으로 모두 불타 없어져 지금은 그 흔적만 남아있다.

Hwangnyongsa Temple Site Historical Site No. 6

The construction of Hwangnyongsa Temple, located east of Wolseong in Gyeongju, was begun in the 14th year of King Jinheung's reign (553) of the Silla Dynasty. Originally planned to build a palace, the construction changed into a temple when a yellow dragon is said to have appeared at the building site, and it was completed in 17 years. And then in 574, Indian king Ashoka attempted but was unable to build a statue of a Buddha triad and sent gold, steel and statue models by ship. When the ship reached Silla, the Buddha statue was made using such materials. In the 6th year of King Jinpyeong's reign (584), Geumdang (golden hall) was built to enshrine the Buddha statue. In the 12th year of Queen Seondeok (643), a nine-story wooden pagoda was started on the advice of the monk jajang, who returned from studying in Tang, for the protection of the kingdom from outside enemies. In 645, the nine-story pagoda was completed by the master architect Abiji from Baekje, with each story symbolizing its foreign enemy. However, the temple was burnt down during the Mongol invasion in the 25th year of King Gojong's reign (1238) of Goryeo, and only the site still remains today.
